

For Immediate Release

Wilkes-Barre, PA Police Department selects Total Enforcement for their Records Management System

August 16, 2010 - Wilkes-Barre, PA Police Department selects Total Enforcement (TE) off the Pennsylvania State Contract for their Records Management System to provide information storage, retrieval, retention, manipulation, and archiving to replace their current In-House developed application. Wilkes-Barre is a city in Northeastern Pennsylvania. It is the county seat of Luzerne County and the center of the Wyoming Valley. Founded in 1769 and formally incorporated in 1806, the city has an estimated population of 43,123 with more than 100 users. Total Enforcement RMS delivers powerful advantages of real-time data, overall agency efficiency, complete NCIC access, CAD functionality and Data Sharing. TE gives law enforcement agencies the power to collect, process and access information in real time – from virtually anywhere. Eminently scalable, it shares services between applications & data exchanges, and platforms, OS's & environments.

Media Contact: Karisa Bruno, info@totalenforcement.com